Dublin.—Michael Greedy and Henry Kernan, republicans, were executed today. They were arrested after a raid on a bank at Old Castle, and were convicted of possessing arms. Greedy was a leader of the irregulars.

MORE IRISH RAIDS ARE IMPEDED, IS BELIEF
London.—The belief is that further Irish raids are impeding in Great Britain, although it is generally reported that the persons considered most dangerous were gathered in last week.

The Daily Express says the Free State detectives have been working for months in cooperation with Scotland Yard. They became acquainted with most of the details of the run-running and other schemes at attending most of the secret meetings of the plotters.

Countess Involved.
The Morning Post says Countess Markievicz has taken a prominent part in these meetings. It quotes her as saying at a recent gathering that the Irish republic's chance was imminent and that the support of many other countries could be expected. The destruction of the British empire was the theme of other reported speeches while troubles in India and Egypt were cited as aiding the Irish republican aspirations.

Women have been particularly active in the Irish cause in Great Britain, adopting many clever disguises. Munitions Traffic Bared.
One of the two Irishmen, held for trial Monday for unlawful possession of ammunition, handed in his possession a letter which referred to having sent 20,000 rounds of ammunition from London to Dublin.

"Am not in a position to get German rifle ammunition," the letter adds. "Must wait boats from Germany."

ONE EXECUTED AT
CORK BY FREE STATE

Cork.—William Reilly was executed here Tuesday morning by Free State authorities. He was arrested while in the possession of arms during the recent attack on a house in Blarney Street, when an attempt was made to burn the house of Mrs. Powell, sister of the late Michael Collins.

ASSEMBLY OF
N. Y. DEFEATS
LIQUOR BILL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Albany, N. Y.—After hours of debate in the assembly, the long heralded record vote on the merits and demerits of prohibition was taken and the "wet" lost. The vote came on a motion to discharge the committee on exercise from the further consideration of bills being signed to repeal the Gage enforcement statutes. It was defeated, 74 to 100.
Defeat of the motion is accepted to mean the end of the effort to repeal the laws for this year at least. After the session, "wet leaders" admitted defeat.

The prelate, who is 86 years old and head of the diocese of Missouri, was reported "resting easily" Tuesday morning following a critical day Monday, during which the physicians expressed grave doubt whether he could withstand the crisis.

CARS BUCK ROADS FOR GAZETTE RUN

Only Papers Received in Fort
Atkinson and Jefferson
Are Gazettes.

Shoveling their way from Koshkonong to Fort Atkinson, drivers for the Janesville Daily Gazette broke through the snow blocked roads to Fort Atkinson and Jefferson Monday delivering the only papers received by the cities and towns.

The storm meant trouble for the circulation department. Cities were isolated, railroad service endangered, complete truck service impossible—but papers to be delivered if maintained. There was rapid work to route the papers through to outside districts. The chief concern was to reach Fort Atkinson and Jefferson, cities almost isolated.

At press time the truck was waiting for the bundles of papers. There was the driver William J. Kitzkie and five others to shovel and break the road.

"Get through!" was the instruction. And they did.

Storm Loss Runs into Thousands; Utilities Suffer

Damage running far into the thousands is expected to result to railroads, interurbans, trolleys, telephone and telegraph companies and bus operations as the aftermath of the snowstorm of Sunday night and Monday.

The losses will be in the form of broken equipment and consequent loss of business. It is impossible yet to estimate the exact loss in money. The fall of snow totaled 15 inches.

Interurban Hard Hit
With poles blown down, or carried over by the weight of saturated snow, the Rockford and Interurban line is hit the hardest. No car has been able to get through since the storm from the south since Sunday night. Poles and trees strewn the right of way and tracks and have broken the power line connection with the main generating station at Rockford.

While crews were out Tuesday digging the caked snow from off the tracks of the Janesville Traction company, trolleys will be unable to run until the power line to Rockford is repaired. Men completed connections Tuesday morning as far north as Beloit, making it possible to resume service that day on the Interurban. They were laboring toward Janesville, Tuesday afternoon.

Signal Towers Down
Trains that got through on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, from Milwaukee to Janesville, Monday afternoon, reported their progress was impeded, not by the snow, but by poles, trees, signal towers and wires that were scattered about the tracks. Heavy steel (Continued on page 5.)

Palm Beach, Fla.—President Harding's casual visit to Palm Beach was notable not for the things he did but for the things he didn't do. Although America's fashionable winter colony was ready to take the president into its wealthy bosom and give him such a round of entertainment as he has never before experienced, Mr. Harding sidestepped gracefully and left Palm Beachers somewhat bewildered.

All that the president shared of the life of Palm Beach was his golf and church service. There are many places the president would have been welcome if he had been on adventure bent. The clubs, the handsome mansions on the ocean front, the big hotels with their hundreds of visitors from all parts of the United States would have been glad to see more of Mr. Harding. He could even have had a rooming of the almost as association of "best minds" of pre-inauguration fame for Palm Beach in recent days had some notable leaders, everybody from fellow editors to jurists, theatrical producers and motion picture stars.

GOVERNOR RUNS UP
AGAINST TROUBLE
IN TAX MEASURE

PLANS INNOVATIONS TO ATTRACT SUPPORT IN LEGISLATURE.

STILL TENTATIVE
New Distribution Feature May
Placate Milwaukee; Won't
Have Offset Repeat.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison.—In drafting his tax bill, Governor Blaine is running against the same difficulties that confronted Senator H. J. Severson with his income surtax measure and Speaker John J. Dingell with his general income tax bill. The governor, however, is reported on good authority to be planning one or two innovations which he believes will give his proposal the support it needs to get through the legislature.

Distribution Feature
Although his tax plan is still in tentative shape, Governor Blaine is said now to be placing emphasis on the new distribution feature, probably to be included in the bill. This feature of the proposal would provide that the state is to receive 10 per cent of the revenue, with the remaining 90 per cent to be distributed to cities and counties on the basis of population, according to one reliable report.

To Soothe Milwaukee
By using population as the scale for distributing the tax returns, the governor is said to figure that he can placate Milwaukee's objection to existing tax bills. Objections to the plan, however, may cause him to drop it before the measure is finally reported out.

It is believed here that the new bill is being drafted on the executive office by Governor Blaine and H. D. Olbrich, executive counsel, on information furnished by the tax commission. All angles of the tax question are being investigated in an attempt to hit upon features of a measure that can be pushed through both houses.

Saving Is Claimed
By cutting two per cent from the flat tax rate on corporations carried in his income surtax proposal before the legislature, Governor Blaine is said to claim that he would save business $2,000,000 annually.

This reduction is made possible by the increased returns from the tax on stock dividends not previously taxed, and on the revenue derived from corporation incomes which are larger this year, due to a business revival.

As his bill now stands, Senator Severson estimates it would produce $2,000,000 from corporation earnings through the flat two per cent rate, $2,500,000 from stock dividends and $2,500,000 from the surtax on earnings of individuals over $1,000. This total of $7,000,000 of revenue would go to replace the present special mill taxes for state purposes and the surtax attached to the teachers' insurance and retirement fund.

JAMES VAN DUSEN.
Whitewater.—Pall bearers at the funeral of James Van Dusen were Will Parsons, George Pollock and four young men rooming at the Van Dusen home. After the service at the home, the body was taken to the George Coppin's undertaking rooms.

Mr. Van Dusen, 69 years of age, had been visiting here at the Hebrew church when the roads are open.

SLAYER OF BOYS' DOG, SERVING 60 DAYS, PARDONED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison.—Acts and orators who have extolled patriotism, character and courage of dogs were not forgotten by Governor Blaine Tuesday in a statement explaining why he granted an absolute pardon to D. H. Piny, serving 60 days in jail for killing a canine pet of some boys who had trespassed on his land in Onondago county.

On this particular occasion, Piny found some boys with a dog and he asked them to take their dog and get out, whereupon they became very abusive," the governor said. "Feeling leniently the many impositions upon him, Piny, in a moment of passion, shot the dog."

The farmer has sufficient with which to contend—wind, storms, drought, locusts, locust market gamblers and hunters' dogs he declared. "Much beautiful poetry has been written about the dog. But these poets had no sheep and cows in which they depended for their existence," he added.

SLAYER CONVICTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

International Falls, Minn.—John Moe, charged with the slaying of Cord Brown of Lohman, Minn., last night, was found guilty of manslaughter in the first degree by a jury. It was brought out that Moe killed Brown because he was "keeping company" with Moe's sister-in-law.

CANDLER FILES REPLY IN SUIT FOR $500,000

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Atlanta.—With possibility of the trial coming up in the September term of federal court here, Asa G. Candler, Atlanta soft drink magnate, had on Tuesday an interview with the Atlanta City of Georgia, DeBouché of New Orleans in the $500,000 heart claim suit recently brought against the manufacturer.

The suit, which admitting correspondence with Mrs. DeBouché and proposal of marriage to her, denied Mrs. DeBouché had suffered any damages in the breaking of the engagement, however, asked that the petition be dismissed.

The document sets forth that the defendant admitted he wrote Mrs. DeBouché a letter in which he broke the engagement after it had been reported to him that two men had visited her during the Confederate reunion at Atlanta for improper purposes.

FAMED ISLAND VANISHES INTO SEA, IS REPORT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Panama, Canal Zone.—Easter Island, in the Pacific ocean 2,000 miles off the coast of Chile, and famous for its ancient, gigantic statues, believed to have been the work of a pre-historic people, disappeared, according to the captain of a French merchant ship.

Although persistent rumors are rife here that the island sank in the ocean during the Chilean earthquake a few months ago, no confirmation has been obtained so far.

The most circumstantial of the rumors received here is that of the French sea captain who, seeking to verify his position, tried to sight Easter Island, but found nothing but water where the island should have been. It is pointed out by marine authorities, however, that observations of French merchant skippers are not always accurate.

Brussels.—The French and Belgians believed they had dealt a heavy blow to German propaganda by their invasion of German territory is actualized by political motives, when they announced they would evacuate when Germany begins to pay.

FRENCH THREATEN TO SHOOT ALL HOSTAGES

THE ETERNAL FEMININE

Mrs. George Num Lee, nee Mildred Wenn.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington.—Mildred Wenn, bobbed haired and the flappingest flapper in the capital's celestial colony, has gone and married George Num Lee, New York student, after leaving him "waiting at the church," a couple of times.

And Papa Wenn, behind the cash register in the Hong Kong Low chop suey palace here, now plays contented tunes on the keys of the cash register, which Mildred formerly carried.

Long ago Papa Wenn, in accordance with the customs of China, decreed that Mildred was to wear Lee, inasmuch as Mildred is about the neatest looking little package of feminine charm in all Washington.

And so Mildred was informed she was to be married. Papa Wenn didn't bother to ask his daughter's opinion. The day came and so did Lee.

But Mildred up and decided she had something to say about it even though she was but seventeen. So she disappeared.

Papa was disappointed and Papa Lee was as nervous as if someone had stolen his pet chopsticks. A few days later Mildred returned. Papa went about making new arrangements. Agnita Lee waited for his bride-to-be while Wenn scoured the city for Mildred, who once more had turned up missing.

Once more Mildred returned. Papa was true and swore by all the Chinese gods and his ancestors. But Lee was "wise." He didn't swear. All he did was swamp his sweetheart with boxes of candy and other gifts. The pretty, little Chinese girl became a frequent visitor at the capital's best theaters. There were dinners, parties, auto rides, perhaps evening petting parties.

Then all of a sudden, and unknown to Papa Wenn, there was an engagement, with romance and everything. "I loved him all the time, but I just wanted to make him step out and court me like the American boys do," Mrs. Lee explained.

It then became known that when Dr. Defnet and other physicians had attempted to take her temperature, Miss Lyons previously had written in agony, tossed about on the bed, jerked the thermometer from her mouth, and during those gyrations, had touched it to the rubber bottle of hot water. The great aid to Miss Lyons' temporary access was supplied by her ocellous mother, as Miss Lyons said she needed it to alleviate pains.

If watched too closely, or if not supplied with the necessary accessory, it was Miss Lyons' habit to break the thermometer.

An unnatural desire for publicity is said to account for the young woman's idea.

DEMOCRATS TO GET LEASE ON LIFE IN BILL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison.—Republicans and socialists joined with the lone democratic member of the Wisconsin legislature Tuesday to advance the Kamke bill, making more lenient the restricting provision of the Wisconsin primary election law, which forced the democrats off the official ballot in the November general election.

This measure cut the vote needed by party candidates in the primary, to gain a place on the general election ballot, from 70 per cent to five per cent of the total party vote cast for governor in the last preceding election.

The worst effects of the storm, a heavy downfall of snow or rain accompanied by a high wind that reached the proportions of a hurricane in some places, were felt at Pinson, Tenn., and Denburg, Tenn., where the death toll was 17 and the injured totaled between 60 and 70 persons.

ARRANGE CONTEST FOR ESSAYS ON NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Author of the best essay on "What the New High School Means to the City of Janesville" is to receive a cash prize of $19. Entries are being accepted by the pupils of the junior and senior high school, plans of which were announced to the assemblies, Tuesday morning, by Jesse E. Davis, president of the board of education. The only requirements for the essays are that they must be on this topic, must not exceed 1,000 words, and must be written by junior and senior high school pupils. They are to be handed to Miss Eunice Nelson, dean of girls, and the winner will be announced at the dedication of the new building March 27, when the essay will probably be read.

The terms of Jesse Barle, now president, George Croft, Charles Muzzleton, E. J. Haumerson and O. A. Cleasby, expire in April. Papers have been in circulation for Mr. Barle for some time. Until Monday night it was unknown to Mr. Croft that his papers were being circulated, but his and those of Mr. Muzzleton, chairman of the equipment committee, and one of the most active commissioners in the creation of the new high school building, have been out for some days. Papers are expected to be taken out within a few days for Mr. Haumerson, who probably will accept the office. Mr. Gestreich refuses to run another term. He also has been active in matters concerning the new building and has been valuable to the board in a legal capacity.

Friends of Peter Hammarlund have induced him to be a candidate in the place of Mr. Gestreich and he will be on the ticket.

MAIL CARRIERS USE DOBBIN TO COVER ROUTES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
While mail carriers in the city and country districts are having the hardest time experienced in years in making deliveries, little inconvenience was caused patrons Tuesday, when it was reported all routes were fully covered.

Tuesday, each carrier was equipped with a horse and cutter and at noon, while none had yet returned, it was thought that they would make the entire route. Mail will be some hours late, but will reach all the patrons eventually.

EXPECT CROWDS AT SCHOOL DEDICATION

Date Is Set for March 27—Gridley Hired as Swim Director.

Dedication of Janesville's new $315,000 high school, recently completed and now being used by 1,157 pupils, will occur Tuesday, March 27, at 10 a. m. The dedication will be a grand affair and will be held in the new building.

As it is doubted if the auditorium, seating 3,110 people will accommodate the crowd at dedication, it is hoped to seat 1,500 or 2,000 people in the gymnasium and bleachers. The dedication will be held in the new building.

Gridley to Direct Swimming. As the two gymnasiums and two swimming pools are now ready for use, gymnasium bleachers to go in the gymnasium section are now arranged for and consequently that place will be free for use for some weeks to come. It was thought that work in the gymnasium should start at once.

Miss Dorothy Kropf is now doing the girls' gymnasium instruction and can handle some of the girls' swimming. Some cooperation is expected from the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. and the board voted to hire Rollin Gridley, an alumnus, to teach boys' swimming, gymnastic and game work for the remainder of the year.

At a salary of $85 per month, which he was paid for doing playground work in the summer, Mr. Gridley is an expert swimmer, was one of the school's best basketball players, and has also made a record for himself in athletics at Carroll college, which place he recently left. He has also received training which will fit him for teaching gymnastic work, and is well-liked by the school pupils.

All this work is to start as soon as schedules can be arranged. Boys' gymnasiums will not be compulsory, but few requests for staying out are expected.

Team Is Congratulated. By unanimous vote of the board, congratulations were extended to Coach V. E. Klontz and the basketball team for the honors won at the Whitewater tournament. Coach Klontz and the team were also congratulated by the board.

McGOWAN HOME IS BOUGHT BY OVERTON. With the completion of his new home at 711 Milwaukee avenue, E. D. McGowan, veteran Janesville attorney and former chairman of the county board, will move from 718 Milton avenue, which has been his residence since 1893.

The McGowan home on the avenue has been sold to R. K. Overton, Shopper dairyman and trustee of the Rock county poor farm and asylum, together with another lot fronting on Milton avenue, and one on Walker street. Mr. McGowan has lived on Milton avenue all his life.

A coincidence about his moving to the Milwaukee avenue place, being completed by Severance and Johnson, is that the wooden frame house which was moved away was the first house occupied by Mr. McGowan's father when he came here in 1857 and was owned by Major Hiram Taylor.

The new home will be occupied about May 1 when the old McGowan place will be taken by the Overton family.

CARS BUCK ROADS FOR GAZETTE RUN

To Milton Junction, beyond it most of a mile, the road was so bad that no other motor vehicles having dared attempt a passage.

It was an exciting run, the drifts apparently blocking all progress with defeat seemingly just over the hill as each drift loomed up. At the junction the papers were snatched from a truck to a powerful touring car and run resumed.

Progress was made to Koshkonong and then it was work with the snow. It was a fighting effort, determined with the spirit of "get there" for the Gazette. Papers and news had been in the habit of making idle boasts about their delivery service.

Wheels whirled in the drifts. The car a dozen times came to a halt, slipping off the road into the ditch as it skidded stuck grimly to the wheels as the others shovel like mad to clear the path. Going through a huge drift and passing into an open road, the car was met by a more grievous, for the car settled down into hidden ruts with the wet snow packing in front of the chains on all the wheels.

"You'll never make it," advised the people along the road.

Bucking Drifts
While the touring car was battling with the drifts, the Gazette was being driven by the effort of the Gazette to give service. Carrier boys at Port Atkinson were waiting at their station. Supper time and no papers.

The boys were given their supper by the Gazette and remained on the job until late in the evening when J. J. Bingham, Gazette agent, had given the boys of the car reaching the "Port." Even under orders the boys demurred. Many of them sat up at their homes until a rather late hour hoping that the Gazette would make good.

At 5:15 the Gazette pathfinder car, cranked with snow, broke its way through the snow in Port Atkinson. They had turned the trick. At 10 o'clock the papers were in Jefferson, where the papers were eagerly sought.

The delivery represented the only papers received in either Port Atkinson or Jefferson on Saturday. The carrier boys from their homes, delivery was delayed until early Tuesday morning.

The carrier boys who stuck on the job were: Howard C. Bowe, C. Greitzman, Elmer Helz, Herbert Wisch, Rudolph Wetzel, Theodore Shoen and Walter Dehms.

Gazettes were sent by train to most of the territory including the eastern district, Elk Horn, Darlen and Delavan, and to Clinton and Sharon and to the district west of Janesville.

It was a case of giving service under most adverse and trying conditions.

A tractor was sent out by the Monarch Tractor company. Water-town on Tuesday afternoon the roads from Jefferson to Koshkonong. Four of these tractors were purchased by Jefferson county for a road clearing program.

Contrast in Prices
In 1529 a printed copy of the Bible was sold for a sum; the twentieth century equivalent of which would be fifty-five and thirty-seven dollars respectively, for bound or unbound copies. According to an old record in 1541, the price had fallen to twelve and a half dollars.

These old manuscripts, of which there are perhaps not more than one hundred fifty extant, are now worth their weight in gold and more. Recently a volume was noted at $5,000. Old manuscripts of pre-printing days, and the early printed copies are ranked among the most precious literary treasures of the world.

From the bookmaking standpoint the Big Print Red Letter Bible is the best of them all. In times to come it may prove to be a museum piece, as these others came to be, but just now it is within the reach of all and should have its niche in every home. Look in another column for the offer of this paper is making. Because of the limited number at the disposal of this paper only three coupons are required to be clipped.

DEATH TOLL FROM WIDESPREAD STORM NEARING 40 MARK

That preceded them to the scene. While the relief work was being pushed, citizens of neighboring towns were raising a fund for financial relief.

Of the 17 died from injuries at Pinson. The other was killed at Deansburg. Seven were white persons and the others negroes.

In Ohio, two persons were reported killed, one at Massillon and one at Steubenville. Persons were swept from their feet by the wind's force and property was damaged to the extent of thousands of dollars.

Communication and transportation lines in scores of Ohio cities were being reported as having suffered damages totalling about a million and a half dollars.

CHEVROLET OUTPUT IS 75 CARS A DAY

Production to be Increased to 175 in April, Says Young.

Production at the Chevrolet plant will have been in effect one month when the closing whistle is blown Tuesday night, for the first car was run off the end of the line Feb. 14, according to A. J. Young, sales manager, production during February averaged about 16 cars daily, last week 50 a day and 75 is the number desired in each working day this week.

The number put out in February was held down by lack of some material and equipment needed, it was stated.

"It is expected that 700 cars will be produced daily in the plant next week," said Mr. Young, "with the probability that output for March production will be around 2,500."

Production figures for April for the local plant call for 4,500 cars which means 175 daily. This is 10 percent of the total output for the Chevrolet plants in that month.

The Janesville plant is now supplying Wisconsin and the upper Michigan peninsula with cars. This direction at the present time is a force of 100 men and women comprising salesmen, office workers and maintenance men.

"We are going to our sales force as fast as we can but salesmen are hard to get," the sales manager said.

STORM TOLL RUNS INTO THOUSANDS; UTILITIES SUFFER

Semaphores are reported blown from six foot concrete bases between Milwaukee and Elgin Grove. As a result there is no railway telegraph service on the St. Paul between Janesville and Milwaukee. Wires are also down between here and Chicago and between Davis Junction and Rockford.

Bound for Lac Line Open
The first train through from Fond du Lac to Janesville on the Chicago & Northwestern railway since Sunday night was a special that arrived here at 11 p. m. Monday. It was preceded by a snow plow. Both the 7:40 a. m. and the 12:35 p. m. on this division left Janesville on time Tuesday but were expected to reach Fond du Lac approximately two hours late.

Train No. 344 on this branch, due here at 1:10 p. m. was expected to reach this city about 3 p. m. Other trains are running more than a half hour behind schedule. Freight trains have resumed operation.

On the St. Paul line, the 10 a. m. train, Monday from Milwaukee reached here at 3:35 p. m. The 4 p. m. got in at 6:20 p. m. Other trains were running 15 minutes to a half hour late. The Milton Junction train left here Tuesday morning an hour and a half late.

River Goes Down
Rock river, which was running high before the snow storm, dropped 3 or 4 feet over Monday night, falling with a slump in temperature to 15 degrees about at 7 a. m. Tuesday. The height of the water Tuesday was 1.6 feet above the government mark. On Monday it was 2.8. The river is expected to rise again as the snow melts.

One Bus Gets Through
No bus lines were running out of Janesville Monday or Tuesday except the Gazette run to Port Atkinson, which was the only newspaper delivery in that city. The Reliance bus got through to Shocnaker's Corners on the way to Edgerton, Monday afternoon but had to turn back. The county had snow plows out on the road that far. Efforts will be made to get all the way through Tuesday.

Alarm System Repaired
After eight hours' work following Monday's storm, the broken circuits of the fire alarm telegraph system were back in working order at 3 p. m. Monday. City Electrician V. P. Moore announced. The entire system is now in good condition, he said.

Workers under Street Commissioner Thomas McKune continued Tuesday to open up the highways and sidewalks by removal of snow and fallen trees. Several crews are at work in the downtown district, hauling away snow from the bridges and along the curb on various streets.

The storm has caused an increase in the number taking advantage of free "flopping" privileges at the city lock-up. Where the number has run from 2 to 10 nightly during the winter, it is now from 12 to 15.

All construction work on the $100,000 Eastern avenue outlet sewer continues tied up. Work, due to the storm, less than 500 feet remain to be laid.

The snow seemed to have been heaviest in eastern Wisconsin, along the lake shore. Official snow-falls from 10 to 12 inches were reported at various points in the state and drifted eight and ten feet deep. Schools in many cities suspended because pupils were unable to reach the class rooms.

Katherine MacDonald has an unusual vehicle in "The Woman Contenders" and as the part of the society belle who tired of the endless round of social events and the type of men that haunted the places she visited and went to Alaska for many and really different than anything she has yet played. While the first part with the elaborate gowns and beautiful plays, reminds one of the pictures "The American Beauty" has had in the past, and in which she has been less liked than her beauty and acting ability warrant, the second half, containing enough thrills to make any picture exciting. Scenes of the north are good and many thrilling incidents are gradually depicted. Miss MacDonald manages to look even more beautiful in the heavy furs worn in the north than in the elaborate gowns of New York's elite, and also has a greater opportunity to act.

The Trial of Foster

William Z. Foster is being tried in Berrien county, Michigan, under the Michigan syndicalism law though the real trial is on the question whether Foster and others with him, are guilty of attempting to overthrow the government of the United States. Perhaps if it should be left to Foster to tell the truth he would answer something like this: "I am against the present government and for the establishment of the rule of the workers, the proletariat, under the soviet system." That would be a most honest answer, for Foster in word and writing has been advocating these things for several years. The question then arises as to whether these expressions form an effort to overthrow the government. That is for the jury to decide. Foster says that the question is on the right of free assembly and free speech. The particular assembly was in secret, in a secluded place far from large cities, and Foster's companions were men who have long been under suspicion as having connection with agencies formed for the overthrow of the government. Foster also pleads, as does every one who gets caught with words of violence on the lips, for free speech. But the government contends that men and women have no more right publicly to express their views, and publicly to assemble for the purpose of organization to put those views into action, when this expression and this assemblage is harmful to the community, than would a gang of burglars or other criminals.

For a long time the American Federation of Labor has fought Foster and his plans, first of the "One Big Union," and afterward, when Hayward and his gang of I. W. W.'s were convicted, changed its name to "amalgamation." Denunciation of all these bolshevik and soviet agencies has been printed only recently in every legitimate labor paper in the country by an A. F. L. official. These agencies, working in the United States for Russia and for the establishment of the soviet here, are named as Foster's "Trade Union Educational League," "Soviet Russia," a magazine in the interest of the soviet theory, the "Federation Press" of socialist papers, the Red so-called "Famine Relief," the Red "Labor Union International," and others all with the same purpose—i. e. the change in government to accord with that of soviet Russia.

These are all in the interest of the so-called "worker," according to Foster, but they are diametrically opposed to the purpose of the American Federation of Labor which organizes workers into craft unions that they may work for the benefit of all the members. In a regular program but under the law and supporting the constitution and the U. S. government. The Foster communist plan has for its expressed object the abolishment of the "capitalist" and "profit system," by establishment of the "Worker's Republic" under the Russian soviet system, confiscation of all wealth and to share equally one with the other regardless of effort expended or skill.

This is the real case on trial. Shall men be permitted to go on and advocate these things of violence and destruction, under the free speech and free assembly laws or shall they be suppressed as would a band of highwaymen or yeggs conspiring against property and person? Where is the hair line of free speech and crime to be drawn? What constitutes free speech under the constitutional Bill of Rights?

It is important that these be settled once for all.

The Fake Lady of Escanaba.

The sob sister has been at her best for a week. She has outlasted the heartstring style. For instance, in the early editions of the daily screams we get on the newstands from Chicago and the lesser vocal imitations in Milwaukee was this headline: "Miracle Keeps Fever Girl Alive." And then you could read and weep, that, "Still alive although suffering terrible pain from the accumulated poison in the fever racked body," and a story to bring a gasping sob from a clinic surgeon, or tears from Trotzky, of how this girl died and came back to life, all following in perfect and harmonious sob sister sequence.

The same day, almost simultaneously with this story of the "fever girl's" miraculous escape from death and her sudden return just before she turned the knob on the peary gate. It was discovered that a hot water bottle, artfully concealed, was giving all this extraordinary fever and the only miracle was that the medical profession had been fooled so long. One need not go out back of the barn to laugh; he may have his burble and wheeze and guffaw right on the corner of Main and Milwaukee or within the loop in Chicago. Evelyn Lyons was giving a demonstration that must have tickled her pink for days, and she has beaten the Antigoneish ghost and the Milwaukee child imitations with her fake fever as a means of obtaining publicity.

The staid Kansas City Star talks editorially of the "overheated radiator" and an analysis of a human system that could burn up and still not be consumed. Mrs. Lyons innocently furnished the hot water bottle and Evelyn, aged 26, came out of a drab and uneventful life to find herself on the front pages of 20,000 newspapers and periodicals from San Antonio to Bucklehead.

There is nothing strange about it. A nation that would buy gold bricks as we do and invest in fake stocks and German marks and printed pieces

CURTAILING THE WORLD'S BIGGEST NOTE—II.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington.—In the settlement of the British debt to the United States, it is agreed that increasingly large annual payments shall be made. The theory is of special interest.

The British government, like all other war governments, built up a tremendous war machine in process of high cost. Since the war this has been true of our own government. The same has been true of our own government. Therefore, British government expenses will be on a steadily declining scale. Assume now a given tax rate, fixed to raise the revenue which Great Britain has needed to maintain her great establishment. Further, consider that any industrial nation automatically increases each year in productivity and wealth. Wherefore, if the tax rate be maintained or even reduced a little, the rising increment of industry will yield greater and greater revenues, and we have a declining line representing government expense and a rising line representing government revenues. Between them is the ever widening margin. From this margin, then, will come the annually enlarging payments with which the American debt is amortized.

It is expected British productivity and wealth will increase with sufficient rapidity to permit of the "paying off" of the debt in much less than the 62 years provided in the agreement. Indeed, it seems fairly certain that, with peace, the debt can be paid in half that time; with war, there would be grave question if Great Britain or any other European debtor could pay at all.

The action of Great Britain in putting the debt on a stable basis has been the object of many economists. It is to be remembered that the British people pay some $100 a year per capita in crown and local taxes—an amount three or four times what Americans pay. Indeed, the British are the heaviest taxed nation in the world today and yet the first to pay us their debt.

The administration at Washington and the American business community regard the settlement of the British debt as a matter of prime importance. The British debt amounts to nearly 60 per cent of the entire allied obligation to this country. To fund this on a basis of recognition of its full face value and on a favorable interest basis effectively will stop all talk of cancellation from other debtor sources.

Now, should France come forward with a suggestion of cancellation or scaling down, we need but to point to the British settlement—half the European debt fully recognized and funded. Now, then, in the name of the "most-favored-nation doctrine," could we give France or Belgium or Italy or anybody else, any more favorable terms. The benefit goes even deeper. France has been making at the periodic economic conferences to the effect that if the United States will reduce its debt demands, the French can reduce the reparations demands on Germany. Settlement of this British business puts a stop to such a manner of involving American affairs in so alien and tangled a skein as German reparations. The settlement solidifies the consistent position of the United States in this matter, to wit: the allied debt is a simple matter of contract between parties and that's all there is to it.

If probably would be found that cancellation would not prove a popular theory with most of the people of the debtor nations, no matter how much their idealists might discuss and propose it. For it can be discerned that, for a debtor nation to accept cancellation, would seriously impair credit. No nation which had been the immediate beneficiary could go into the market with such confidence to borrow again. Even its own people would hesitate to lend.

The president said in his message on the British proposal to Congress that widespread repudiation might follow failure of the undertaking and, in this every American will agree he was not wide of the mark. But to get the British debt settled is to give us and the rest of a world at least a theoretical guarantee of the validity of the rest of our debt and of all other international obligations now outstanding.

Already a very real and tangible benefit has inured to the American people from the announcement of the arrangement reached with Great Britain. The British will accumulate dollar credits on this side of the Atlantic to meet their payments by purchasing Liberty bonds in this market. While holding them, pending arrival of payment dates, they will enjoy the interest. On the payment dates, they will turn the bonds over to the treasury which will retire them. It will be seen that this will produce an annually increasing buying movement in the American government security market. The whole bond list already is up on this news and every individual American bond holder is thus immediately receiving a realizable gain in the cash value of his holdings. Undoubtedly, this plan of payment will keep the bond list at a premium which gradually will increase.

This method of payment will cause the least derangement of foreign exchange, employ the British funds profitably while awaiting payment periods and stimulate the American securities list. It is a good deal for everybody concerned.

In all probability, France will be the next debtor to be called into negotiation. Mr. Parmentier of the French treasury came over here last summer as a special emissary to talk about the French debt. He was discouraging and explained to the American commission that, despite the vast sums France is spending on her army, she will be unable to pay a cent to the United States for some years. Mr. Parmentier further intimated that France was a sensitive debtor and disliked being reminded of the obligation. In a word, she is willing to let the matter drop for an indefinite period. That a sterner attitude will be adopted by the United States, now that the British precedent has been set, seems not improbable.

The settlement of foreign debts will result in the manufacture of the largest denomination bonds in the history of finance. The bureau of engraving and printing at Washington is working on the bonds for the British settlement. The first British bond will be in the denomination of $23,000,000 and the last, a single bond, just one slip of engraved paper, calling for the payment of $175,000,000. The treasury will hold these in its vaults and as each installment is paid, the bond, representing that amount, will be turned over to Great Britain and cancelled.

of worthless paper up to a billion or so each year, is certainly apt to fall for a girl with an impossible fever, a ghost that forgot to put the matches back in her pocket, or a half-baked child that scared folks with ghostly manifestations here at home in Milwaukee, and accept as true the tommyrot of Conan Doyle, who is now lecturing on "solid ghosts," referring perhaps to hard-boiled citizens who have passed on.

JUST FOLKS

CONTENTMENT.
Time was I dreamed of conquest and of fame.
I fancied life lent wings to my dream.
"Go build yourself a fortune and a name,
Gather the treasures of the land and sea."
I was a restless wanderer who sought
The strange mysterious goal of worldly bliss;
Peace lies in mighty victories, I thought,
It cannot dwell in humble haunts like this.

"You must have more if you would be content,"
So spoke the strange old vagabond I heard,
"For worldly greatness must your strength be spent."
On to the top, forever, I was spurred.

But now I watch the tired, pale men press by,
Seeking the cruel, maddening more and more,
And let them pass, for I have learned that I
Have joys enough around my humble door.

There are no better people than mine own,
My neighbors are the equal of my kind;
There is no more in greatness to be known
Than comes to man from countless simple things.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

A LITTLE SLICE OF MEAT
It was in the butcher's
Yesterday afternoon,
And the grocery customer
Just finished
Making his purchases.
"Boy, you're growing,"
"But would you mind
Wrapping up all
My stuff?"
"Why, I have,"
Said the butcher,
"No, you haven't."
The G. C. retorted,
"What have I left out?"
Asked the butcher,
"That thumb of yours."
Said the customer,
"You weighed with the liver;
Also the one
You weighed with the sausages.
Wrap them up."
I paid for them.
I want them.—Harry Thompson.

THE WONDERS OF SCIENCE.

There lived once a dear old gentleman who traveled a great deal. And due to his deafness, when he left the train at stations he failed to hear the whistle and the train left without him. But one day he invented a new device that looked like a wrist watch and had a needle. Every time the whistle on the train would blow the needle would vibrate, and with a second attachment it could be heard.

Once while the train began to slow its girth a robber held him up and the inventor, tickled by his device, laughed in the man's face. The robber ran away from fear and surprise. But the man, still holding his hands above his head, was tickled to death.—Jesse Schorr.

A just Providence gives the old man about a week's breathing spell between the income tax and the spring military season.

Who's Who Today

MME. ALEXANDRA MICHAELOVNA KOLLANTAY.
For perhaps the first time in the history of diplomacy a woman has been selected for the position of Russian minister to Norway. She is Mme. Alexandra Michailovna Kollantay, appointed by the soviet government.

Mme. Kollantay is a remarkable figure of the Russian revolution. During the early stages of the revolution she was Minister of Public Welfare. In January, 1918, she met a courageous sailor who was then commissar of the navy and she became Alexandra Michailovna Kollantay. Later her sailor friend disappeared and she disappeared with him. In 1921 the Bolsheviks declared themselves in favor of a new economic policy and Alexandra Michailovna formed a new political opposition.

Mme. Kollantay is a little over 40 years old and of slight build. She has bobbed brown hair and a fine musical voice. She visited America in 1916, and delivered a series of lectures against war and capitalism. She was in the Zimmerwald (Switzerland) and took part in the famous Socialist Conference with Lenin. When the Russian revolution came she was on the side of the Bolsheviks. And when they later took charge of the run of government Kollantay was made commissar of Public Welfare. After taking office she was faced with a strike of the officials of the department. Not only did her subordinates go on strike but they also took charge of the run of government of the department. Mme. Kollantay, the charming lady, used force to locate the whereabouts of the key. She sent for Red Guards and, backed by armed force, the key was handed over and the department returned to its regular work. She carried on the work of welfare for a few years and then was replaced.

As Mme. Kollantay, orator, she is said to be unmatched in the ranks of the Russian women, communists, but her administrative work is not so strong. Mme. Kollantay has written a good deal on New Morals and Women Welfare, but she treated these problems from a Socialist point of view.

LOOKING BACKWARD.

FORTY YEARS AGO
March 13, 1883.—There is a little stir in city politics but as yet no one seems to be regularly in the field. A few of the present officials are willing to be re-elected, but few new men are seeking office. The matter of establishing a free library using city funds, will be submitted to a vote of the people, according to action taken at last night's council meeting.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
March 13, 1893.—Superintendent Pfundfoot says that a new fire engine, which will be out tomorrow—Janesville switchmen and all others in the association, have changed their minds and will continue work.—Rock river is slowly rising and the ice is due to break up soon.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
March 13, 1903.—The dense fog that prevailed early this morning resulted in two Northwestern trains crashing together on a siding near the gas house. None was injured, but the caboose on one was smashed to bits. The fire was quickly extinguished. The East Side hall, are to be completely redecorated. Janesville is free from the typhoid that has raged in so many cities this winter.

TEN YEARS AGO
March 13, 1913.—At a school teachers' meeting at the high school last night to discuss the possibility of moral betterment among pupils. It was unanimously concluded that one of the greatest needs today is for more sleep.—Miss Emily Sewell, music teacher in the grades, has been secured for chorister of the Methodist church.

PETROLATUM IN THE CUP BOARD

Petrolatum is popularly known as vasoline or cosmoline, and is derived from a petroleum product. The petroleum portions have been distilled off. It is a bland, neutral substance without any nutritive value, but otherwise resembling fats and therefore suitable for an ointment base. Unlike most ointments it will not spoil or become rancid. Liquid petrolatum is popularly known as paraffin oil, purified mineral oil, alibione oil, and a thousand and one trade names, and is used in a great many instances in cases of constipation or intestinal basis.

For the emergency outfit at least, if not for the family medicine cupboard, petrolatum or vasoline should be purchased in collapsible tubes, for the sake of cleanliness. If it is kept in a box or jar the petrolatum becomes contaminated every time which the tube is used. Of course it may be sterilized anew by placing the entire box or jar in a vessel of water and boiling for an hour, but few take the trouble to do this.

Soft petrolatum or vasoline is neither antiseptic nor healing, but as a salve or ointment it will accomplish all that any alleged antiseptic or healing ointment can accomplish for minor wounds, in my judgment. The only purpose such a dressing serves, as it seems to me, is to protect the injured surface from contact with objects or surfaces which may contaminate or injure it, and that includes preventing external dressing from sticking to the injured surface.

The ordinary soft petrolatum is good. A white, colorless, odorless grade may be had; this colorless petrolatum has been used internally as an effective remedy against constipation and intestinal stasis, in doses of one teaspoonful or two thrice a day. Most people are loath to take the colorless liquid petrolatum, though the semisolid, or soft form is probably more efficacious, provided there is no great repugnance to it. Petrolatum may be emulsified like root oil (fat) and emulsion has been much used internally by persons who disliked taking the plain liquid or semisolid forms. Formerly certain emulsions of such an emulsion claimed nutritive value and exploited the stuff as a "tonic" and "builder" in wasting diseases—until government restrictions on this behalf were enforced.

A covering of petrolatum is one of the best first aid dressings for minor burns, provided the petrolatum is sterile. It is exceedingly good practice to smear petrolatum from a box or jar that has been repeatedly opened, over a fresh and probably sterile wound or injury of any description. Goose oil and bear grease are no longer favored by the fashionable set. Everybody has cup grease on hand now.

Being nonirritating, a few drops of liquid petrolatum placed in each nostril as the patient lies back, will often soothe nose and throat inflammation and diminish an irritating cough, therefore, particularly in children with coryza.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
What Mother Found.
On how to get rid of lice. My mother is a hair dresser. (S. A. D.)
Answer—Send a stamped self-addressed envelope and repeat your query, for answer by mail.

Why Are Corsets?
Is it injurious to go without corsets for a week or two? (S. A. D.)
Answer—No, even if one isn't very fond of them, they are good for you and I enjoy them very much.

Chewing Tobacco.
Ben Tuley says tobacco will cause ulcers of the stomach. I work in a dusty place and it is necessary for me to chew. (M. C. J.)
Answer—Tobacco evidently has advantages of information open to him which are closed to physicians. Naughty boys or little girls in school, imagine it is such a bold, manly thing to take a chew, very much as a man who chews tobacco ought to be bedded down in a stable where the environment is more to his taste.

Jewelry in Safe.
Is it safe to wear clothing and jewelry which have been worn by a person who has had syphilis? (E. C. J.)
Answer—Ordinary washing with soap and water will render clothing clean and safe to wear. If it can't be washed, steam sterilization will make it safe to wear. If it can't be washed, steam sterilization will make it safe to wear. If it can't be washed, steam sterilization will make it safe to wear.

Symptoms Not Kept on Approval.
Please give me the symptoms of chronic appendicitis? (P. D. L.)
Will you kindly describe the symptoms of high blood pressure? (E. O. R.)

Answer—No, no children. There are plenty of symptoms sent out for approval by the mail order charlatans, and it is far from my proper function to contribute to the unhappiness of the misguided ones.

Miss Janesville Says—

Janesville theatergoers must go to Madison, Milwaukee, Rockford, and other cities to appreciate the reason for this city being known in theatrical circles as one where applause for honest efforts on the stage is given but meagerly. Mediocre vaudeville should receive applause in proportion but an exceptionally good act is deserving an encore. Theater men and visitors in the city notice the little amount of applause an act receives.

It was only two years ago that the "chapters" were on the prowl for wearing "those hideous looking gashes" leaving the buckles unclasped. Since then, women in general have adopted the kaisho for winter wear and after the recent storm it appears that 50 percent of the men in Janesville are wearing 'em. May we expect the men to adopt the radio look next?

Would that all snows were heavy. There are many places in Janesville where the owners won't take the time to shovel their walks after a five-inch snowfall but let a 12 to 15-inch snow come and they all get busy with shovels.

SPEAKING OF ECONOMY—
Are you fooling yourself by depending upon a small coal stove in the cellar to supply hot water? Do you tell yourself: "Why, I only use a scutful of coal a day?" Do you know that there are seventy-five scutfuls of coal to a ton and that each one weighs about thirty pounds?

NEXT on the program of high school athletics comes the Milton college tournament, Mar. 20 and 21. Then comes the state "prep" meet at the University of Wisconsin on Mar. 22 to 24. There are 16 teams that will compete at Madison this year, making the tournament more important than ever before. It will be the greatest meet in the history of high school athletics in Wisconsin and will bring together a great list of teams.

SAMMY MANDELL lost to Joey Sangor at Minneapolis on a technical foul by going down without being hit. After Sangor smashed him with a right cross to the chin, Referee Barton ruled him out. But, five times before that Sangor was warned by the referee for hitting on a foul spot. Reports from Minneapolis say that Sangor rushed over to the "Ref" and put him wise to the technical.

IF "Gus" Tebell, captain and crack guard on the Badger basketball team, is wise, he will accept the job of coach at the University of Wisconsin. Other offers may seem more attractive, but it is better for an athlete to start small for the experience and rise rather than come in big and drop. Coach Jones of Wisconsin made such a recommendation to both Tebell and Williams last Saturday, according to information reaching the writer.

ROCK RIVER comes again into focus. Two events of the American Canoe association have been awarded to Rockford. A race will be held July 4 from Rockford, down the river to A. C. A. Island, where a program of sports will be held. Another race will be held on the Pecatonica and Rock rivers.

REUPING, wealthy Fond du Lac man, is reported to have made an attractive offer to Charles Ebbels for the Brooklyn National league team. Secretary McKeever comes out and says the Reuping offer is for nothing, but that Edward F. Simma, Kentucky oil operator, now comes across with an offer of $500,000.

Wisconsin ties Iowa for Big Ten cage title by beating Indiana, 35 to 17.

Eight games remain first half of A. A. A. national basketball meet at Kansas City with two Harbors, Minn., and Armour Grains of Kansas City remaining.

Scraps About Scrappers—Luis Firpo knocks out Bill Brennan in Madison Square Garden (23).—Pal Moore boxes Danny Lee in fight at New York Friday night.—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, says he is willing to defend title at any time.

Boxing and Keno Rafferty, cut-throats, and Harvey McClellan, infighter.—President Heydler of National league arrives at camp of Chicago Cubs.—Cuba prepares 200 week-end series with Los Angeles, starting Thursday.—Babe Ruth having trouble with his small enclis.—Brooklyn Nationals expelling trouble in ending rookies coming through.—Giants still talking about performance of their rookie, Pitcher Lucas, who was loaned to San Antonio Sunday and trimmed the Giants—Mobile defeats St. Louis Browns in exhibition.

Walter Hoover to defend sculling title at 1933 English regatta.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan and Miss Suzanne Lenglen won finals in women's tennis doubles at Montone, France.

SNOW SCENES.
Get your camera out and take some snow scenes tomorrow. Probably last chance this year.
